National Geographic Photography Trips and Workshops

Learn photography from the best in the field

Photo: Steve McCurry
Imagine...

training your camera lens on the sinuous lines of a Saharan dune or street performers in action in New York City, and stopping before you shoot to ask advice from a National Geographic photographer.

This is the beauty of photography trips and workshops with National Geographic: you have real-time access to some of the world's best photographers in the classroom or in the field.

Get focused during a weekend or weeklong photography workshop led by a top photographer, building your skills through in-depth, classroom-based instruction and daily assignments in the field. See the world through the eyes of our photographers, learning tips and techniques as you frame wildlife in the Galápagos on a photo expedition, or hike Tuscany's hills on a photo adventure. Or take part in one of our one-day photo seminars, held in cities throughout the U.S. All of our photography programs are designed for amateurs and photo enthusiasts who seek to develop their artistic vision and digital photography skills.

Photography and National Geographic have long gone hand in hand. Now there are more ways than ever for you to hone your photo skills with our top photographers. Just look at some of the opportunities that await you and your camera...
This is Your Shot
Join National Geographic’s online photo community to share your best photos and get tips and assignments from National Geographic photo editors. You could even see your shot published in the magazine! Go to nationalgeographic.com/yourshot.

Photo Trips Offered in 2014:
• Galápagos
• Japan
• China
• Morocco
• Costa Rica
• Scotland
• Turkey
• Alaska
• Mongolia
• Namibia
• and more!

Photo Trips begin at $5,495.

Weeklong Workshops: Our seven-day photography workshops offer in-depth, hands-on instruction by a National Geographic photographer and a professional instructor. Practice new techniques on daily shoots, spend time in the classroom editing and critiquing your images, and see a visually rich place like Paris or Santa Fe through the eyes of a top photographer.

Weeklong Workshops Offered in 2014:
• Paris
• London
• Rome
• Wyoming’s Cowboy Country

Weeklong Workshops begin at $3,395.

We also offer a five-day photo workshop in Santa Fe beginning at $1,995.

Weekend Workshops: Our shorter photography workshops stretch over a long weekend and include hands-on instruction by a National Geographic photographer and a professional instructor with guidance, critique sessions, and photo assignments in the field built into each day’s schedule.

Weekend Workshops: Our seven-day photography workshops offer in-depth, hands-on instruction by a National Geographic photographer and a professional instructor. Practice new techniques on daily shoots, spend time in the classroom editing and critiquing your images, and see a visually rich place like Paris or Santa Fe through the eyes of a top photographer.

Weekend Workshops Offered in 2014:
• New York City
• New Orleans
• San Francisco
• Washington, D.C.
• Seattle
• Tucson

Weekend Workshops begin at $1,595.

Weeklong Workshops begin at $3,395.

Our goal is not only to help you make memorable photographs, but also to help you see in a new way that can be applied to your photography. What you will achieve during our time together is only the beginning; you will see your world with a fresh perspective.

— Sisse Brimberg and Cotton Coulson, National Geographic photographers and workshop experts

Photo Seminars Offered in 2014:
• San Francisco
• Los Angeles
• New York City
• Seattle
• and more!

Photo Seminars begin at $110.

To see detailed itineraries for all our photo trips and workshops and learn about the photographers who lead them, visit our website: nationalgeographicexpeditions.com/photo or call 1-888-966-8687 for information about all our photography programs.
LEARN PHOTOGRAPHY FROM THE BEST IN THE FIELD.

Photography and National Geographic and have long gone hand in hand. Now there are more ways than ever to hone your skills with our top photographers.

For more information about our photo programs and the photographers who lead them, visit: nationalgeographicexpeditions.com/photo